The Cosgrove brothers in Co Monaghan founded Grove Turkeys Ltd in 1972 and developed it as a fully integrated turkey livestock rearing and processing business.

This consisted of breeding, hatching and commercial livestock growing together with processing and sale of an extensive range of poultry products to the market. The processing plant was severely damaged by fire in 1993 and was subsequently enlarged and rebuilt in 1994. The rebuild involved streamlining product and process flow together with the provision of new administration and staff amenities. The factory is one of the most modern EU licensed poultry processing plants in the British Isles. The Company was purchased by Kerry Group Plc in 1988 and continued to grow and develop its customer and product base. In December 2006 a management buyout acquired the business from Kerry PLC. The current owners Amber REI holdings Ltd acquired the business in June 2016.

Durabilité

- Grove Turkeys are dedicated to building a long-term business strategy that benefits suppliers, consumers, employees, and shareholders.
- Grove Turkeys was recognized in 2020 for exemplary performance across four targets in the areas of supplier certification, packaging, energy and water.
- Within the supplier certification area, 100% of suppliers are members of the Bord Bia Poultry Products Quality Assurance Scheme (PPQAS), a target the company has maintained throughout the lifetime of its current sustainability plan (2017-2021).
- Grove Turkeys also set an ambitious packaging target for the business, aiming to ultimately transition to 100% use of recyclable plastic on its product range.
- Following the completion of a series of initiatives in 2020, 90% of all packaging on the company's products is now recyclable, placing it 50 percentage points ahead of its initial baseline.
