CO. LAOIS,
IRELAND

It has a passion for quality, service and taste, with award-winning products enjoyed in over 100 countries around the world. O'Mara's Country Cream is the leading country cream in the US, while O'Casey's Irish Cream is the second-largest selling standard Irish cream in Canada. The company also crafts a full range of bespoke B2B and contract packs for some of the world's leading providers.

First Ireland Spirits became part of the Quintessential Brands Group in 2014 and has since invested over 3 million euro in expanding its production capabilities. It currently employs 64 people on its Abbeyleix site.

Why Us

It is Ireland's leading independent producer of Irish cream with a global reach of over 100 countries and has contracts with some of the world's largest retailers and brand groups.

In addition, First Spirits Ireland possesses full-service solutions for research, product development, production, bottling, export and logistics.

Not only does it have leading technical expertise, it supports the Irish industry with locally sourced raw materials.
