With over 125 years of experience and tradition in dairy farming, Lakeland Dairies Co-operative has grown to be a market leader in the production of high-quality dairy based products for customers around the world.

Operating within a 15 county catchment area across Ireland, fresh milk is collected on a daily basis from approximately 2,500 family farms.

Using unrivalled expertise and state-of-the-art machinery, the company processes over one billion litres of milk annually into a wide range of value-added dairy foodservice products and functional dairy food ingredients, which are then exported to over 70 countries.

Its dedicated research and development teams work collaboratively with customers to bring new products to market, working in tandem with its sales and marketing teams to identify future trends and market opportunities.

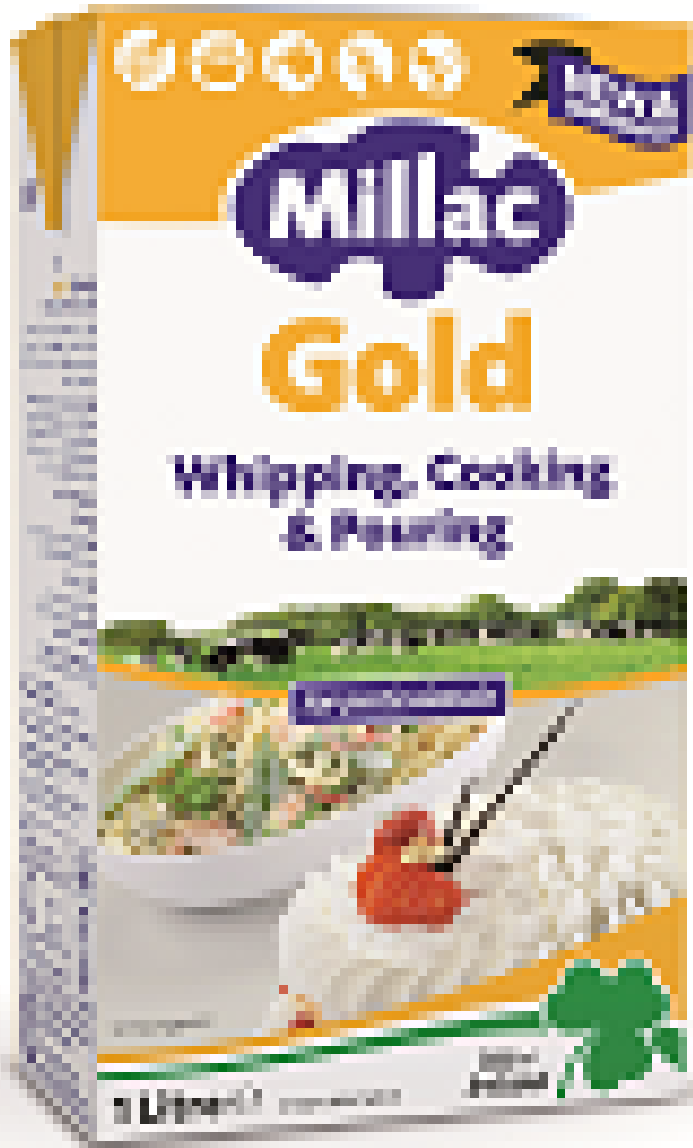

Lakeland Dairies Co-operative strives to meet the needs of its customers for competitively priced, wholesome and natural produce of the highest possible quality.

Why Us

Lakeland Dairies are a fully-traceable sustainable supplier of dairy products with expertise in food ingredients, foodservice and retail products.

The company takes great pride in ensuring that its milk is farmed with the utmost care to ensure products of exceptional quality.
