J. J. Corry is Ireland's first modern Whiskey Bonder. Curator of a diverse library of Irish Whiskey flavours and blender of an award-winning portfolio of Whiskeys, J.J. Corry works with established historic and new craft distilleries to gather a collection of whiskey stocks and then matures & blends them in the J.J. Corry House style.

This art of Bonding and blending was once widespread in Ireland but vanished in the early 1900's when the Irish Whiskey industry almost collapsed. Founded by Louise McGuane, who returned to her family farm to revive this lost craft, J.J. Corry showcases, in its unique cask selections and blends, the best whiskey Ireland has to offer.

Why Us

First modern Irish whiskey bonders. Innovative products using finishing techniques never used before. Premium blends that are not common place. Female founded company, Irish owned, independent. Co. Clare's only whiskey producer.
