St Patrick's Distillery's goal is to produce spirits of character, taste and personality. Most of the spirits consumed today are produced from grains, as they contain high levels of easily converted sugars. Instead St Patrick's Distillery has chosen potato as the alcohol base for its vodka and gins because of its unique natural sweetness, and its amazing versatility.

As potatoes have just 20% available dry starch matter, this makes the process much more expensive, but it more than compensates for the extra time and effort with its unique taste, aroma and smoother finish.

For whiskey lovers and connoisseurs, the company also offers St Patrick's Distillery Oak Aged Irish Whiskey which is distilled, matured, blended and bottled in Cork.

Why Us

Using small batch artisanal methods, St Patrick's Distillery produces a 100% potato vodka and a variety of potato gins. The added bonus of a grain-free distillation is that it is also naturally gluten-free.
